Dear Praying Friends,

Thank you as always for your faithful fellowship in the Gospel, your prayers, and your support of us. We are grateful to God that we can call you friends in Christ.

It has been a real joy to continue to study with Noeun as he grows in his knowledge of the Lord. When we completed a study on baptism, and asked if he would like to be baptized, he replied, "Definitely I do!" He was baptized in the presence of the church and of his family. His wife has been showing interest in Jesus Christ as well - please pray for her salvation.

This month, I also had several chances to teach and preach in the church. On all fronts, communicating in the Khmer language is getting more possible, for which I am very thankful. Learning the language is something we believe is vital for communicating the truths of God's word to the Cambodian people, and we plan to continue studying as long as we are here. Our window of opportunity for full-time language learning is drawing short, however, so please pray we can make the most of the time that remains.

We have recently been battling some sickness. Please pray that the Lord will keep us healthy and strong in his service! Also pray that God will continually give us His heart of love for the people of Cambodia.

Yours in Christ,

Matt and Nikki Brown

Nikki's Notes

Our neighbor across the street hired some people to replace his roof. We watched the workers as they very carefully took apart the old roof piece by piece being sure not to lose or damage any of the materials so they could be sold again later. The next day, we noticed that not only was the roof gone, but the entire house (including all the insides) was removed. Another neighbor said it was because they decided to remodel their home. No kidding! This is going to be more than a simple remodeling, there will eventually be an entirely new structure for them to call home.

It's exciting to think of the new Christians here in Cambodia. When they accept Christ as their Savior (as with any new Christian) they are not getting a spiritual remodeling, but rather become entirely "new creatures in Christ." The new structures that Christ is building here in Cambodia are precious additions to His glorious Kingdom.
