Nikki's Notes

When preparing for our services on Resurrection Sunday, the kids from our church voiced an interest in being involved. After running through several ideas, we finally found a song for them to sing. It's a Patch the Pirate song called "I Love You, Lord." A veteran missionary has translated it into Khmer. They quickly learned the song and (even after more than 50 people came) they sang it unto the Lord with all their hearts. After finishing singing, one of the girls approached me saying, "I love Jesus Christ with all my heart. Can we sing it again?" So, they did. Even though only two of these children have made a profession of faith, we can see that the Lord is working in their hearts. If you'd like to view the video of them singing, please visit the "Nikki McElveen Brown" FaceBook page where it is posted for public viewing.

Dear Friends and Supporters,

March proved to be a very full month, with several special events for the church. Mid-month, our home city of Kampong Cham celebrated the River Festival. We were able to set up a small booth in a busy location, and hand out over 2,000 tracts about Jesus Christ and the "Water of Life". Do pray that we might see fruit to come of the literature distributed and the conversations that we had with people during that time.

Crowds at the River Festival

Resurrection Sunday

Just a couple weeks after the River Festival, we had the privilege to celebrate the Resurrection of Jesus Christ! We planned a special service and encouraged the church to invite friends. To our surprise, over 50 people attended and listened to a Gospel message about Jesus Christ, the Victor.

In a religion that tells people they can rely only upon themselves, it is imperative that they realize that victory over sin and death comes only through Jesus. Please pray for us as we try to follow up on some new contacts from this special day.

We have now lived in Kampong Cham for one year. We are so thankful to the Lord for putting us here, for the relationships He has allowed us to form, and the people that we have the privilege to minister to. Please pray that God will increase our faith and help us to use every opportunity to proclaim the precious Gospel of His dear Son.

For His Name's Sake,

The Brown Family
