Nikki's Notes

Living further away from the capital city has us getting more and more creative, especially around the holidays. It's business as usual here on days like Christmas and Valentine's Day, but we still find ways to keep our traditions. This year for Valentine's Day we were able to make our own chocolate hearts and give them out to the kids after the Bible club. It was a great opportunity to talk about the Lord and the love He has for us! The kids loved the chocolate although one boy said it was a tad bitter for his taste. Haha!

Prayer Requests

- Government relations
- Spiritual strength
- New relationships/Bible study opportunities
- Health
- Grandpa "Taw" - health, salvation

Faithful Friends, Family, and Supporters,

Thanks to all who have been praying for Grandpa "Taw" from next door. He has since been moved to another house here in town, but I have still been able to visit him daily, read tracts and Bible passages, and pray with him. Recently, when asked by a neighbor about my presence there, he said, "He's showing me how to know God." It seems as though he is beginning to understand the Gospel, but is still not ready to place his trust in Christ. His health continues to slowly decline, so please continue to pray that he will turn from his own righteousness and trust Christ while there is still time.

Our new tract, "The Living God" is out now and being distributed not only in Memot, but in other communities around Cambodia. We have already had some good conversations with people. Please pray that this new tract will be a vehicle to cause people to consider the true God and eternity, and that we will be able to get more salvation Bible studies started throughout the community.

"The Living God"

For His Name's Sake,
