

March 2019

Dear Pastors, Friends, & Family,

Things are getting very exciting! The demolition is basically done. You can see Nick and Sam taking hammers to the wall. Although, I did make them stop after Sam bounced the hammer off of the wall and almost hit himself in the face. I am thankful that they really want to help and be a part. The second picture shows some of the studs for the new walls and some of the new lights. Also, since the last prayer letter we have had a couple churches send in offerings for the building. God really has things moving along!

In April, we have a group from our home church coming to help do a lot of the work. My dad is the assistant pastor, and he and my mom get to come with the group! Also, Jason Stanley is coming to be able to have a part in the work; the Stanleys are the family that is currently on deputation to come work with us. They should be moving here later this year!

I added one more picture of our island, just to make you all a little jealous!

Thank you for your prayers and support,
Markie Bullock
