

November 2021

Dear Pastors, Friends, & Family,

What a mighty God we serve! He is so Good! I am happy to announce that we have a building! Last week we went to the notary with the owners and the real estate agent to sign the papers and get the keys, and just this morning I picked up all the official documents. I would like to say a special thank you to all of you who gave specifically to this building. The response was overwhelming at times, and it is a huge blessing to us to see everyone be willing to jump in and help. I am rarely emotional or speechless, but there were times during this process where I was both. So thank you from the bottom of my heart!

It will be a few months before the remodel is done and we can meet in it. As you can see in the video (see attached link), it needs a complete overhaul. I met with the contractor this morning, and he said that he will get the demolition crew started next week! I will keep you updated with the progress and pictures.

This past weekend we had our missions conference. Christy's mom and dad came in from Mexico to preach for us. It is always great to spend time with family! On Saturday we had an international dinner, which in our church can be very exciting because we are very multicultural. At the dinner we had people from the U.S., Mexico, Spain, Venezuela, Sweden, Argentina, the Philippines, the Dominican Republic, Ukraine, and Colombia, and we had food from nine different countries. We had a great time! Then on Sunday, my father-in-law preached twice for us. I am thankful that God has given us people with a heart for missions and for giving.

God just keeps bringing visitors! On Sunday, we had six first time visitors at our missions conference (not counting the missionaries). Then last night at our midweek service, we had a man from the neighborhood come who had walked past our church many times. He told me that he had never been to any other church besides the Catholic church; he also told me that he did not believe like they did, but that he believed everything like he read on our website. When he left, he told me that he would be back on Sunday. I look forward to getting to talk with him more. Like anywhere else, some people come back and others we never see again, but it sure is exciting every time someone walks through the door and hears about Christ.

Thank you all for being so faithful! We do not take for granted what each one of you do for us. I hope you all have a wonderful time of Thanksgiving over the next few weeks.

Thank you for your prayers and support,
Markie Bullock
