

Noah Clarke

Missionary to the Amazon

October 2025

Dear Churches and Supporters,

I wanted to thank all of you for your prayers as I travel around the US. A total of 18 churches and 10 individuals have agreed to support me. I have a lot to be thankful for and God has led me every step.

August was somewhat discouraging because several churches that had scheduled me to come present, did not come through as a result of pastors having resigned a few months or weeks prior to me coming. On the bright side—the month of September went really well! Each week was full of meetings and many more churches agreed to support the ministry.

I'm thankful God has protected me while traveling. On one occasion, I was driving through an interstate construction zone when a worker who was not paying attention stepped right out in the road in front of me. I couldn't swerve because of the concrete barrier, so I braked as much as I could and barely missed him. On another occasion an eighteen-wheeler nearly slammed me against a wall on the interstate when there was a lane shift. Thankfully I was able to avoid him.

I plan to obtain a private pilot's license which will prove useful in reaching remote tribes. The flight school will allow me to continue to raise support while taking classes which is a huge blessing! The estimated total cost is $ 4,000. If you would like to give towards this need, you may send donations to: WWNTBM PO Box 725 Kings Mountain, NC 28086 with the memo Noah flight school or by giving online at: WWNTBM.com

I will be in California traveling to meetings for the rest of October and will be getting ordained on October 11th by my sending church. I'll be back in the South traveling to Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee as well as Florida the entire month of November. December and January I will be raising support mostly in Alabama and going through flight school. Thanks again for all the prayers.

Sincerely,

Noah Clarke
