Updates from the Road

March started in Michigan at a missions conference, where we were taken on for support. We headed south to AL to pick up our camper and head to our next few meetings in TX. We were taken on by our first meeting, but our second meeting was cancelled as the new quarantine restrictions were set in place due to the virus. With the guidance of our pastor we decided to make our way home to MI, taking our camper with us this time due to the extended time home.

While on the way to our meeting in TX, we noticed that we were probably having more turbo problems, but God provided a mechanic that was able to replace the turbo and get us on the road again. The church we were at showed so much kindness in letting us borrow their van as the truck was being fixed.

Even though we are home, we are thankful and counting our blessings! One of our blessings is that my wife is expecting and baby is due October 2020. During this time at home she will be able to have a few of her first appointments, while we tackle some camper maintenance, and attempt to potty-train our oldest...we appreciate your prayers! In all things God is good and we will fully rely on Him as always.

We ask that you would keep in your prayers the missionaries in Italy and the Italian people. May the Lord use the missionaries to keep finding ways to safely minister to their people, to keep encouraged and that during this time hearts would be softened towards the Gospel. We look forward to being back on the road, sharing our burden with others.
