

PLEASE PRAY FOR NATHAN & HANNAH FRY

Dear Friends,

The summer season of ministry has seen us staying a little closer to home, but that does not mean we haven't been busy working on videos that help Christians to lift up their eyes.

In our last letter, we shared the incredibly busy season of travel and filming. The early part of the summer was spent catching up on editing each of these videos.

Once we completed these projects, we immediately began filming for a new film for Servant's Heart Camp. SHC was started by my parents and is located less than a mile from our home. It was an incredible privilege to sit down with my parents and interview them about the ways God led them to start a camp and their heart to impact lives for eternity.

This film will be much more than a promotional video for the camp; rather, we are striving to use the story of Jim and Pat Fry and Servant's Heart Camp to convey that it is indeed worth serving Christ with your life. We spent much time this summer filming interviews, capturing iconic moments of camp, and recording Bible teaching and preaching that will help to reinforce the story.

When we released our film America's Backyard last December, it was exciting to see how God began to use it in ways that we had prayed and dreamed about for years. In addition to God using it in the lives of Christians in churches around the country, God used it in our own lives to bring a renewed excitement and direction for the future of Lens of the Harvest.

We desire to produce many more missions documentaries over the coming years. We believe that these films are an effective way to bring the mission field in front of Christians in a moving way. However, these larger productions take more time and money, and we believe God is leading us to put a serious effort and focus on raising support for the ministry.

Over the years, we have slowly raised support, but it has often taken a back seat in the schedule to making videos. Over the coming year (or more), we plan to significantly cut back on the number of videos that we produce so that we can place a priority on raising support. While we recognize this may seem like a step back in the short term, we are convinced it is the right step to allow us to more effectively serve God in the long term.

As part of this transition, Ethan McCurry from Bible Tracts Inc has been helping us by designing some new materials, including a brochure, updated prayer card, new tabletop banners, updates to the website, and even some custom envelopes. Ethan has been doing a wonderful job, and we are excited to approach deputation with these new materials.

Please pray that God would provide the right churches to partner with us and help us advance the Gospel through film.

Thank you for all of your prayers and support,
Nathan, Hannah, Grace, & Micah
