Dear Praying Friends,

What sermon do you need? Yes, an unusual question I realize. Sort of sounds like Pastors serve whatever kind of messages you want like some fast food places do with food. Not really. This week as I was studying for today's messages, I was challenged about my relationship with the Lord, about all that I already know about the Lord, and about what He desires in my life. With that, I asked myself what one thing the Lord would speak to me about if it were only He and I in the service. I was challenged about my walk with Him. What message does He have for you?

We have had absolutely heaps of visitors at church this past month (I call 1 or 2 per Sunday a heap.) We had the opportunity to get to know them and are praying that the Lord will bring them back if it would be best. Dr. Jeff Norrell, one of our supporters from the States, was with us for a couple of Sundays. We appreciated his ministry with us. We have had several people to respond to the preaching of the Word over the last month. It is wonderful to see church folk grow in the Lord and in their fervor to reach others for Christ.

We also attended Family Camp during last month. We enjoyed seeing folk we haven't seen for nearly a year. The preaching was good and the week was a real blessing to us.

Thank you for praying for us as we continue to prepare to come to the States for a brief visit beginning in late November. We have much to do, preparing things for here, for the States, and for the visas and passports to get into the States.

We hope to see you soon. Thank you for your financial and prayer support.

With our Love,

Kelly, Becca, Reese and Bryce
