Field Goals:

- Reaching the Lost
- Develop and Train Christians
- Plant Bible Believing Churches

It is truly comforting to know that God meets every need of those following His will. As we seek to serve Christ, God has been good and faithful. It has been a privilege to see faithfulness and such a heart for souls among God's people in different churches.

While we only had one meeting in August in Parishville, NY, we stayed very busy dropping in at other churches. We also had the joy of serving at our home church a little. We were able to enjoy some time camping with family in September. After camp, we immediately got back on the road and have been blessed with meetings ever since!

While on deputation, I have become more burdened about praying for our churches here in America. As we face the upcoming election and all the concerns about the future of our country, I see churches that are struggling and facing many hardships from the outside. The devil is very much a roaring lion "seeking whom he may devour." He wants to destroy homes, families, churches and individual lives. Our country needs God more than anything right now!

After a meeting in Central New York, we drove to Michigan for two missions conferences where we had some fellowship with many old friends in the Kalamazoo area. While in Kalamazoo, I was able to pass out several "John and Romans" booklets for the new church plant there. Afterwards, we drove to NC where we stayed with Charity's grandmother and some close friends. In this area, we had a Sunday meeting and two missions conferences. It was a joy to be among the believers of these churches and make many new friends. Charity and I also had the opportunity to have an impact in the children's services of two of these churches. After preaching in one, a 5th grade girl, who had come to the church for the first time, spoke with a personal worker and received Christ as her Savior!

After leaving North Carolina, we drove back to New York for a meeting north of Albany in the beautiful Adirondack Mountains. We are wrapping up October in Michigan where we have actually seen the first bit of snow! We will spend much of November in Pennsylvania. Please pray for safety as we travel. In December, I will be traveling out to CA. Pray for health for mom and baby as we are expecting our third little blessing around April 24th. Thank you all so much for your prayers, love and support! May God bless you all!

In His service,

Stephen, Charity, Judson and Samuel Jenney
