

Autumn 2022

Dear praying friends,

You made a difference around the world in missions this Fall.

Your support sent me to present the Gospel and see people saved. Your support allowed me to encourage missionaries in their field of service. Your support provided moments for me to help people find a place of their calling in missions.

Thank you for sending me to Japan and Cambodia. I visited with two families who serve with World Wide New Testament Baptist Missions, the Browns and the Riffels. Both families welcomed me to their place of service. Meeting missionaries in their homes and seeing them in their places of service brings a refresher to both the missionary and the people they serve.

In Japan, I saw this overwhelming statue of Buddha. The statue reminds me of the oppressive darkness that shadows Northern and Southern Asia. As a society, Buddhists seek to live good lives, but their goodness will not get them to heaven. This area could use a dozen missionary families a year ago.

In Cambodia, I saw people given to idolatry. Seeing this idolatry brings sadness. Yet, in villages and towns, the Browns preach the Gospel. They are seeing people saved. Our missionaries in Cambodia are doing a job for Christ in a difficult place.

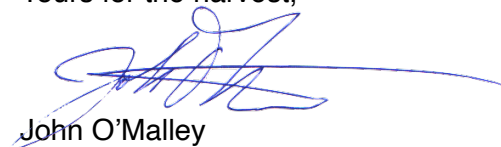

This Fall, I met with college students preparing for future Christian service. In a chapel service during a missions conference at Ambassador Baptist College, I challenged the young adults to missionary service.

Because you support us, we can help missionaries who serve, assist missionaries who are preparing, and preach the Gospel to the lost.

Your support meant I assisted a dozen churches this Quarter with their missions program. I saw God's people show great faith by giving to support missions.

Thank you for valuing the Great Commission, our family, and our work at World Wide New Testament Baptist Missions.

Yours for the harvest,

John O'Malley
