Dear Pastors, Friends, and Supporting Churches,

My heart is filled with gratitude as I reflect on how richly the Lord blessed the FBCPM Pastor/Workers Conference in February. It was a true joy and privilege to be able to fly in, attend the two-day conference, and have the opportunity to preach in the evening services. From beginning to end, the hand of God was evident, and the theme, “All Glory Be To God Alone” from I Corinthians 1:31, was not merely displayed in words, but truly demonstrated in spirit and reality.

I am deeply thankful for the faithful pastors and workers whose steadfast labor, humble spirit, and love for the Lord were such an encouragement. It was also a special blessing to meet those who have recently been added to the FBCPM family. Seeing God continue to build and strengthen this work brought great joy to my heart.

I want to express sincere appreciation for Pastor Sammy Medina, who did a tremendous job preparing for and organizing the conference. His diligence, sacrifice, and careful leadership were clearly used of the Lord. Without question, the Lord was truly magnified throughout those precious days, and for that, we give Him alone all the glory.

Looking unto Jesus,

Joshua Rhoades, Ephesians 3:20-21
